

AMIDHRP

Australia Myanmar Institute for
Democracy, Human Rights & Peace

Statement of Solidarity

The Australia Myanmar Institute for Democracy, Human Rights and Peace is deeply saddened and appalled by the tragic attack at Bondi Beach in Sydney. Our hearts are with everyone affected — the victims, their families, and all those traumatised by this act of violence.

We stand in solidarity with the Jewish community and strongly condemn all forms of hatred, antisemitism, and violence. We honour the bravery of the police, emergency services, and members of the public whose courageous actions helped prevent even greater harm. Our thoughts and prayers are with those who were injured while protecting others, and we wish them a speedy recovery.

There is no place for violence or hate in Australia. We stand for peace, unity, and respect for all. In moments of grief, Australians come together in compassion and resilience. We reaffirm our commitment to democracy, human rights, peace, and the shared values of safety, dignity, and humanity for all.

— Australia Myanmar Institute for Democracy, Human Rights and Peace